

ZERO RULES.

Who said you need a reason?

Turning ZERO from a product proposition into a brand behaviour.

ZERO ADDED SUGAR

(Functional benefit)

ZERO GUILT

(Emotional benefit)

Current Brand Foundation: Making indulgence feel easier.

The formats change,
but the territory remains consistent—humour
and human storytelling
that removes the friction
from dessert.

Ice cream is only for weekends.

I'm dieting,
so no dessert.

I'll earn it after my workout.

It's not a special occasion.

THE STRATEGIC HYPOTHESIS

People may not need another reason to have dessert. They may need fewer
reasons to say no.

Hypothesis to be validated through consumer testing.

THE RULE

Ice cream is only
for weekends.

Need a cheat day?

Need an occasion?

ZERO RULES.

Who made that rule?

Do you really?

Tuesday is an occasion.

We don't just sell zero sugar. We challenge the conditions of indulgence.

CONSUMER

Submits a rule (#MYZERORULE).

CONTENT

Go Zero challenges it (Reels / humour / Kiran-led content).

COMMUNITY

Chooses the winner
(Comments / polls / challenges).

ZERO RULES IS NOT JUST A CAMPAIGN.

The audience doesn't just watch the campaign.
They help create it.

COMMERCE

Zero Experiences (Product / quick commerce / offline).

Creates a NEW RULE.

DON'T LAUNCH IT. TEST IT.

(30-Day Pilot)

THE PIPELINE

WEEK 1 — DISCOVER

Identify the strongest consumer "rules."

WEEK 2 — CHALLENGE

Turn them into content.

WEEK 3 — PARTICIPATE

Let the community create the next rules.

WEEK 4 — CONVERT

Connect winning ideas to product + commerce.

THE MEASUREMENT FUNNEL

THE SUCCESS SIGNAL

If consumers start using 'ZERO RULES' without Go Zero asking them to, ZERO has become a brand behaviour.
